10. Regulations Regarding Examinations

The result of every year of the course shall be declared on the basis of the performance of the candidates in both the semesters comprised in that particular year subject to the following rules:

(i) It is essential for a candidate 'to pass' in a particular year of the course to secure minimum 50% marks in aggregate taking both the semesters together and at least 40% marks in each paper.

(ii) If a candidate secures 50% or above marks in aggregate (in a particular year of the course) and secures 40% marks or above in each paper except one in which he secures 39 marks then he shall be given "one mark" as the "grace mark" in that paper.

Or

If the candidate secures 40% or above marks in each paper and he secures one mark less than 50% marks in aggregate (in a particular year of the course) then he shall be given "one mark" as the "grace mark" in aggregate.

(iii) Subject to the foregoing provision [i.e., sec. 10 (ii)], if a candidate secures 50% or above marks in a particular year of the course and in one of the papers he secures less than 40% marks then in that paper his result will be declared as "back paper" and will be promoted to the second year.

Provided that if a candidate secures less than 40% marks in back paper examination for the first time, then his result shall be declared "re-back" in that paper. In case he fails in "re-back" examination also, he shall be given no further chance.

(iv) If a candidate secures-

(a) less than 40% marks in more than one papers in a particular year of the course, or

(b) Subject to the provisions of sec. 10 (ii), less than 50% marks in aggregate in a particular year of the course, his result will be declared as "failed".

(v) If a candidate 'fails' or 'fails to appear' in any year of the course, he may appear as "ex-student". However, if he has secured more than 50% marks in any paper/papers (including tutorials), those marks may be reserved at the option of the candidate. But, as "ex-student", a candidate will not be given more than two chances, in continuation only, to appear in the examination.

However, if a candidate has passed in a year of the course and wants to enhance his marks, he may appear for improvement in only one paper in which he has secured less than 50% marks.
