

CPR Training Program

30th March, 2024

A CPR Training Program was successfully organized for the cadets of the 15 UP Girls Battalion, Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Gorakhpur University, in collaboration with the Diabetes Education Research Centre and Aprica Health Care, Gorakhpur. The event witnessed enthusiastic participation from a large number of cadets.

The training focused on equipping the cadets with essential life-saving skills, emphasizing the importance of timely intervention during emergencies. Experienced trainers provided hands-on demonstrations, ensuring active engagement and effective learning.

The program concluded with an interactive session where cadets clarified their doubts and expressed their gratitude for the valuable training opportunity. This initiative not only enhanced their practical knowledge but also emphasized the significance of community health awareness.
